

EXIMLAB (Export-Import Laboratory) is a consulting firm, a partner of Acibadem Labvital Food Testing Laboratories, located in Istanbul, Turkey. We assist Turkish food companies to comply with U.S. FDA (Food and Drug Administration) regulations and export their food products to North America (USA and Canada). All food products that are offered to sell on a foreign market have to comply with a specific regulation and food safety expectations. Our export specialist provides import and export guidance on country specific legislation. Our food testing laboratory offers food testing services according to imported country regulations. For example, we test food products according to U.S. FDA regulations for the food product intended to be sold in the United States of America. We help Turkish Food companies on FDA Facility Registration, Prior Notice, Food Canning Establishment and Process Fillings, Food Label Preparation, Ingredient Reviews, Food Safety Services, Food Contact Substances and other regulator requirements including U.S. Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA) adaptation and etc.

We also consult on global logistics, offer workshops and trainings tailored to your export business needs. Our export and import team has experience on assisting Turkish food companies to export USA, Canada, Mexico and EU member countries.
